14,000 Jap Toll As Allies End Guinea Drive

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 11 (AP)—Complete occupation of Huon peninsula, New Guinea, and the end of a five-month campaign which cost the Japanese a division of 14,000 men was announced by Gen. Douglas MacArthur today.

Australian troops, including veterans of the North African campaign, and American soldiers, many of whom had triumphed over the Japanese at Buna on the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea last year, joined forces on a hot, coastal plain yesterday, chopping off another piece of Japan's captured territory.

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR . . . IN NEW GUINEA
Announces Victorious End of Jungle Campaign

The Aussies had fought and cut their way through the jungle for 150 miles along the coast, since launching the campaign with a landing north of Finschhafen Sept. 22.

The Americans, units of the 32d Division, invaded Saidor from the sea Jan. 2 and then moved down the coast 14 miles to Old Yagomi, where the Australians met them yesterday.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique said the great bulk of the augmented Japanese division had been destroyed in the squeeze action.

MacArthur credited the Allied air force and light naval units with an assist in the victory, for they destroyed the Japanese coastal barge routes, making escape or supply impossible for the enemy.

The combined Allied force may next move on Madang, Japanese base about 60 miles up the coast from Saidor. American bomber crews reported evidence that the enemy already has abandoned Madang.

The communique reported another raid on Rabaul, the heavily-hit Japanese base in New Britain, but made no mention of opposition to the blows by Solomons-based night patrols against Lakunai Airdrome.

While enemy interception has been growing weaker in the air over Raboul, this was the first time in many days that a communique report of a raid made no reference to opposition. Usually 40 to 60 enemy planes rise to battle.

MacArthur Tells Need Of Men, Planes, Ships

Boston American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—The most direct and strongest statement ever revealed from Gen. MacArthur on the inadequacy of the forces allowed him to accomplish his objectives was read to a meeting of War Prisoner Relief Societies in Washington today.

A letter dated Oct. 1, 1943, at the headquarters of the Southwest Pacific area, gave Gen. MacArthur's assurances that if he were properly supplied he could retake the Philippines.

It was written by MacArthur's aide, Lieut.-Col. Charles H. Morhouse, to Mrs. Birdie Shaw of Gallup, N. M., who had written the general a letter asking him if he thought he could rescue her son, captured at Corregidor.

The letter follows:

"Gen. MacArthur has asked me to answer your kind letter of Sept. 13 and tell you nothing is closer to his heart than the release of the Philippines and our prisoners of war.

"He is doing the best he can with that which has been alloted to him and he feels sure that if he were equipped with the men, planes and ships that he needs, we could take the islands.

"Gen. MacArthur joins me in the sincere hope that your son is alive and well, and that he will return safely to his family and friends."

Bombers Back New 5th Drive

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Feb. 11 (AP)—Throwing virtually every available combat plane, including giant four-engined bombers, into one of the greatest ground-support operations ever undertaken, the Allies launched a terrific onslaught yesterday to protect their Anzio bridgehead, already converted into a bristling hedgehog by hundreds of massed guns.

Americans, still fighting bitterly in the ruins of Cassino on the main Fifth Army front, captured five more buildings. Their artillery leveled the town prison which had been turned into a Nazi fort, but the Germans still fought tooth and nail from the underground dungeons and cellars.

4000 ALLIED PRISONERS?

(The German high command, in a broadcast communique, said German troops had penetrated into Aprilia in the Anzio-Nettuno bridgehead 10 miles north of Anzio, capturing the village railway station.

(The communique also said the Allies penetrated for the third time into the northern part of Cassino, 60 miles east of Anzio, but were again thrown out. It declared the Americans and British had lost more than 4000 prisoners and 89 tanks in the Nettuno area.)

The Allied bombers at the bridgeheads added the weight of their explosives to destructive blasts arched on the enemy by Allied artillery in "time crashes"—a method of fire control by which hundreds of big guns all place shells upon a single target area in a matter of a minute or so, often erasing the target in a single blast.

NAZIS USING TANKS

Five key points in the highway network around the beachhead area—Albano, Cisterna, Velletri, Campoleone and Cecchina—were bombed.

Albano, which was heavily bombed, is within a mile and a half of the papal summer palace at Castel Gandolfo.

Despite the fury of the air offensive, the Germans apparently retained the initiative on the ground and lashed out in many probing attacks at various points around the bridgehead.

They continued to add to their containing force and a new division, the 65th, was identified in their line, making five full divisions and a brigade called up to smash the bridgehead.

The Nazis are using tanks in their attacks, but not in the grand manner. It was evident their main effort was yet to come.

FRANKFURT, FRENCH COAST LASHED AGAIN

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—American Flying Fortresses blasted Frankfurt-on-the-Main with tons of high explosive again today, striking the already hard-hit southwest German industrial and transport center for the second time in four days.

While this devastating assault to flatten Frankfurt was in progress, Liberators again slashed at military installations in the Pas-de-Calais (English channel) area and the American Marauders struck other targets in the "rocket gun" sector of northern France.

Today's operations kept the unprecedented Allied aerial assault going through yet another 24-hour cycle and followed up yesterday's mighty attacks on the German manufacturing city of Brunswick and the Gilze-Rijen air base in Holland.

The daylight forays came in the wake of RAF Mosquito attacks on Berlin and western Germany and mine laying in German waters from which all RAF planes returned safely.

150 Red Planes Rip Finnish Port

By JOHN E. LEE

LONDON, Feb. 11 (INS)—Soviet fliers carried out a 150-plane attack last night on the Finnish port of Kotka on the Gulf of Finland east of Helsinki.

Many buildings were damaged.

Apparently the attack was on almost as large a scale as that which wrecked much of Helsinki Sunday night.

London circles heard that Finland's Baron Mannerheim had urged the necessity of peace overtures to Russia.

REDS TIGHTEN DEATH CIRCLE AROUND NAZIS

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Red army's seven spearheads thrusting against the steadily diminishing circle of death around Nazi forces in the Dnieper bend were hacking German-held salients to pieces today and relentlessly cutting down all who refused to surrender.

Red Star, Soviet army organ, said the Germans were being slaughtered like sheep on the open steppes and declared the entire garrisons of the villages of Yakhnov and Myled had been exterminated as two Russian columns isolated them from other Nazi units retreating toward Korsun.

Coming events may prove Korsun one of the bloodiest spots on the eastern front if the Nazis continue to refuse to give up in the face of sure death.

The corridor had now been reduced to a bare five miles width and 15 miles length and inside were between 100,000 and 150,000 German soldiers whose slaughter or capture promised to be the greatest single German disaster since Stalingrad.

F. D. Tells of Tough Battle in Beachhead

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today a very tense situation and very heavy fighting existed at the Anglo-American beachhead below Rome but that the Allies on the whole control the seas and air.

The Chief Executive told a press-radio conference we are praying for good weather to aid sea and air operations.

He opened the conference by saying the most important news in the papers is the capture of the Huon peninsula in New Guinea, with the Australians having moved up from the southeast to join Americans coming in from the northwest. He said it was tough country and the conquest means the strip of coast along northeastern New Guinea is clear.

Chaplin Faces Fight to Avoid 23-Year Term

By JAMES LINDSLEY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11 (AP)—Slight, white-haired, dapper Charlie Chaplin, who used to play with deft fingers on a world's heartstrings in the realm of film mimicry, faced today the stern reality of a federal indictment charging him with Mann Act violation.

The 54-year-old, four-times-married comedian was accused of the additional felony of conspiracy as a federal grand jury late yesterday concluded a long inquiry into his relationships with red-haired Joan Berry, 23, Chaplain's former protegee who asserts Chaplin is the father of her 4-months-old daughter.

A U. S. attorney's office attache said that Chaplin, if convicted on all four indictments on which he is charged, would be liable to a maximum of 23 years in prison and fines totaling $26,000.

Six others, including several persons prominent in fashionable Beverly Hills, were indicted along with Chaplin for an asserted conspiracy to deprive Miss Berry of her constitutional rights following her arrest on a vagrancy charge Jan. 2, 1943, in Beverly Hills.

The Mann Act charges against Chaplin are not connected with the alleged conspiracy. One count alleges that on Oct. 5, 1942, he transported Miss Berry from Los Angeles to New York City with intent to have her "engage in illicit sex relations with him and live with the said defendant as his mistress."

The second count is based on Miss Berry's return from New York City to Los Angeles.

Chaplin was in seclusion but his attorney, Jerry Giesler, said the comedian would surrender to the U. S. marshal Monday, adding an appeal that the public withhold judgment against the film star "until he has had his day in court."

The six named with Chaplin are Beverly Hills City Judge Charles Griffin, who, after Miss Berry pleaded guilty to vagrancy, sentenced her to 90 days in jail, suspended on condition that she leave town; Capt. W. W. White, Lieut. Claude Marple and Matron Jessie Billie Reno, of the Beverly Hills Police Department; Robert Arden, radio commentator whose real name is Rudolph Kligler, and Thomas Wells (Tim) Durant, former film studio official and a friend of Chaplin.

They all are charged with participation in an alleged conspiracy to deprive Miss Berry of her legal rights by forcing her to leave the state after a quarrel with Chaplin at his Beverly Hills home.

British Clime Tough to Take

By AUSTEN LAKE

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (by transport mail)—Here we are in the midst of a dripping, woodsey wilderness where the moisture pelts down on the tin roof of our Nissen hut like the constant beat of tiny, pneumatic hammers. It is a sound so insistent that it becomes less noise than a vibration, which holds one in a kind of despondent spell, like the scene in Jeanne Eagel's memorable "Rain." As Pvt. George von Hein of 60 Liverpool st., East Boston, the one-time ward porter at the City Hospital, put it, "It's been damp so long I'm sprouting mushrooms in m' ears."

I am quartered with one of the outfits which arrived here from the U. S. short weeks ago, and are attached to older, disillusioned troops, who look upon newcomers as college seniors might regard freshmen—with a cold, impersonal and jaundiced eye. Yet these newcomers are actually long-term soldiers. After a brief "probationary" period they will be admitted into this wide-flung fellowship as brothers of the same lodge.

Pianist Plays Chorals

Among these new-to-England-but-old-to-the-Army soldiers are Pvt. Albert G. Welch of 700 Metropolitan ave., Hyde Park, a hot-piano player, who plays cool Sunday chorals for the chaplain and who once clerked for Harry Sokolsky of Sturtevant Co., Readville. And Corp. Salvatore J. Juerra of 75 Chelsea st., East Boston, the company mail clerk, or "man in the middle," who is ex-president of the social Club Camafare, Inc.," of whose original 29 members, 17 are in service. (He recently encountered the club's V. P., Larry Salvo.)

And Sergt. John J. Jackmauth of 130 O st., Southie, an ex-patrolman in Station 15 (Charlestown), who sang bass in Fr. John J. Joyce's St. Peter and Paul's choir. And Pvt. Camelo J. Analore of 106 Everett st., East Boston, who fought prelims under the management of his brother, Joe, and tells wife, Mary (Battaro), "Remember how I used to hate to walk? It's easy now!" And Corp. Philip T. Burke of 73 Cotting st., Medford, Tufts '43 in economics, and one-time tree trimmer for New England forestry under Vic Bixler.

And Corp. Arthur A. Cote of Carter Lane, Wilmington, who craves the joy of dropping jitneys into a jute box and receives Mother-Annie's V-Mail letters a prompt two weeks after posting. And Corp. Raymond P. Eland, a wiry youth of the Johnny Kelley Marathon type, who used to manage the parking space across from the Plymouth Theater, and shuffled the B. A. A. Patriot's Day course for the last 10 years. (He came in 13th in the '42 race.) And Capt. Dean E. Cogswell of Wenham, the battalion "exec" who was a Beverly schoolmate of Eland's and won a Harvard scholarship and a rugby "H."

Ravenous Appetite

There is a noticeable difference in the mental perspectives of these come-lately lads, who bring with them fresh mental impulses. When I ask their views they have ready answers, such as "Buh-lieve me, I've learned to appreciate the things I had at home," and such-like philosophies. But ask the men who've been here for a long time, and are shaped to the rigid discipline and rugged training and they'll say, "We don't give anything a hell of a lot of thought. The trick gets to be—don't remember too much and don't look too far head. So we think day-to-day thoughts, like the ever-threatening Duty Roster or our spot on the pass list. That's what we call light-defensive-thinking."

One thing these comparative newcomers have learned swiftly—to wear Army issue "longjohn" underwear, the neck-to-heels kind, even if they've survived twenty odd winters of New England weather in nothing heavier than a T-shirt. The penetrating moisture of English winter'll get 'em if they don't. "Boy, you get blue all over," observed Sergt. Herb E. Smallman of 10 Virginia st., Somerville, who's picked up 45 pounds since he played end for Charley Dickerman's High School team in

Bricker Raps Deal's Policy of Coddling Labor

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (INS)—Ohio's presidential candidate, Gov. John W. Bricker, hammered the Roosevelt administration at its doorstep today with a denunciation of the New Deal for fiscal waste and a "coddling" labor policy.

Bricker's demand for an end to strikes and support to "the millions or workers who want to work" was sharply outlined as the most important political utterance of his campaign introduction to Washington.

Concluding his 48-hour Lincoln Day visit, the Ohio Republican today addresses the corps of Washington correspondents—this time speaking extemporaneously and "open to questions" concerning his stand on campaign issues.

As planned by his managers, however, the Governor's nationally-broadcast address to some 1300 Republican members of Congress and party leaders "stood up" as the high point of his bid for recognition in this political headquarters.

SCORES SPEND, TAX

Republicans cheered his slashing attack on what he called the Roosevelt program of "spend, waste, borrow and tax." If continued in the postwar period, he declared, this policy will destroy state autonomy, representative government and free enterprise and kill effective international cooperation.

Their applause thundered when Bricker demanded that Congress immediately enact legislation to outlaw strikes for the war's duration and warned that insistence upon this action by servicemen and their families "will be expressed in the election this year."

"In time of war, when men and women are dying to preserve free government, including the right of labor itself to organize, no group or no union should be permitted to strike," Bricker declared. "Some life is endangered by every idle hour. Every strike delays victory.

BLASTS LABOR DRAFT

"The time has come to support the millions of workers who want to work and to quit coddling selfish labor leaders for the sake of the votes which they say they can deliver in an election. If politics and votes had been forgotten by this Administration, we never would have had the distressing confusion which has confronted us in this field."

Bricker condemned President Roosevelt's recommendation for national service legislation, asserting that such a law is no answer to the manpower problem "at this late date." He declared that "Win the War" as a political slogan does not belong alone to the New Deal—"winning the war is not a partisan opportunity." Administration policies, he added, are leading America to "Socialism, if not Communism."

His speech at the Lincoln Day banquet was the Governor's first public appearance in Washington since he announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for President.

OUTLINES PROGRAM

Gov. Bricker spoke less as a critic than as a constructive statesman outlining a future program which had as its major theme a reform of New Deal fiscal practices, which he summarized in a six-point post-war tax policy, based upon the following principles:

"1—Simplification of tax laws and regulations including reports and returns.

"2—Stability in tax laws and regulations to enable business to map out constructive future programs without constant fear of changes.

"3—Adherence to the principle that the taxing power exists primarily for the purpose of raising necessary revenue and not as an undercover method of effecting social changes.

"4—Adoption of tax measures which will leave adequate sources of revenue available to states and local governments.

"5—Strict adherence to fiscal and tax policies which will stimulate and encourage capital and private enterprise to provide jobs.

"6—A reduction in Federal taxes as soon as possible after victory."

Bricker contrasted the Republican party as "liberal" with the New Deal as "reactionary."

There were addresses by Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, Republican leader of the House; Sen. Wallace H. White, Jr., of Maine, acting Republican leader of the Senate, and Judge Francis E. Rivers, of New York, recently appointed to the bench by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Mrs. Bricker was among the guests of honor.

Bricker in a talk to the press conceded President Roosevelt some "credit" for the conduct of the war but took the position that it is a job for the professional military men and they should be left alone to do it.

He criticized consumer food subsidies as "postponing" the day of payment, the federal war ballot bill as inadequate in contrast to his personally-favored idea of a state ballot for servicemen, a civilian labor draft as "too late" now to do any good, federal housing as infringing on a job private industry can do.

Dazed, Beaten Woman Tells Of 2 Attacks

Brutally beaten and her clothing torn to shreds, a 30-year-old Roxbury woman was found dazed and bleeding early today in the Fenway by police, who said she was the victim of two criminal attacks.

Sergt. Augustine Gannon of the Back Bay station, making a patrol in a cruiser, found the young woman lying in the street near the Museum of Fine Arts.

Revived at City Hospital, where she is reported on the danger list as a result of the attacks, bruises from head to feet and a possible skull fracture, she identified herself as Gertrude Nattestad of Wait st., Roxbury.

Police quoted her as saying she accepted an invitation of two strangers for an auto ride home.

Instead, officers quoted her as saying, the men drove to a secluded spot, attacked her after a terrific struggle, then hurled her from their car as they drove through the Fenway.

24 on Airliner Believed Killed In River Crash

MEMPHIS, Feb. 11 (AP)—Twenty-four persons were believed killed last midnight when a Transcontinental American Airlines plane crashed in the Mississippi river and sank immediately in the 22-foot channel 15 miles below Memphis.

Several crewmen with the U. S. Engineers reported hearing the plane flying low overhead and one said he saw it hit the water and sink seconds after being enveloped in flames.

Capt. Dale B. Francis

"There was a terrific explosion and fire," said a watchman for an engineer's crew. "It seemed to sink immediately."

The big plane was en route from Los Angeles to New York an was on its course for the Memphis airport, where it was due at 11:38 p. m

The Coast Guard reported drag lines had located part of the plane. A cryptic radio message from patrol boats to headquarters here said merely "piece of plane found." Later contact with the boat said it "definitely" was part of the plane.

At least 10 of the 21 passengers aboard the plane were members of the armed forces. The three crewmen were Capt. D. B. Francis, First Officer R. R. Majors and Stewardess Dovie Holybee, all based at Fort Worth.

American Airlines in New York issued this list of passengers aboard the airliner:

Right to Criticize Courts Upheld

NEW BEDFORD, Feb. 11 (AP)—The public has the right to criticize the court, the police and the schools, Judge Walter L. Considine said today in third district court—"that's what they are paying for."

The comment was made during hearing of the case of Manuel Garganta, 46, of South Dartmouth, who was charged with failing to send his son, Arnold, to school.

Benjamin T. Dunn, attendance officer in the town, told Judge Considine the boy's mother had made remarks about the schools and the courts when he had gone to the Garganta home to check on the reason for the boy's absence from school. The parents claim the child had been ill.

The case was continued until June 24.

CIO Now Faces Quincy Test

The National Labor Relations Board today prepared to certify the Hingham Shipyard Independent Union as collective bargaining agent for the yard's 17,000 employes, following the independent union's election victory over a rival CIO group.

Through 12 hours of orderly balloting, workers voted 7831 to 5987 in favor of being represented by the independent union, despite an extensive advertising campaign by the CIO for votes.

It marked the first time that the CIO had gone on the same ballot with a large independent union in this vicinity and the result was termed significant because of previously announced CIO plans to seek collective bargaining rights at the Fore River shipyard in Quincy.

Fall River CIO Pressed to Yield

FALL RIVER, Feb. 11—Army officials and CIO textile union leaders were under pressure today to modify the present labor contract in this city in order that 1000 key craftsmen may find it possible to resume work in seven strike-bound textile mills.

Col. Curtis G. Pratt, in charge of the seized factories, continued a series of conferences with the rival labor groups and while he declined to drop any hint as to their nature, it was believed the Army and War Labor Board were seeking a compromise by asking both sides to give some ground in the dispute.

Claiming that the skilled loomfixers, knot tiers and slasher tenders are discriminated against in the prevailing CIO contract, Sec. Joseph Ainsworth of the loomfixers said the craft unionists would gladly go back to work if the Army ordered suspension of the contract.

"As it stands now, the Army is in the position of trying to enforce that contract. We don't object to the Army or to working for them, but we do object to the Army taking over the plants on the CIO's terms," Ainsworth declared.

Meanwhile, hundreds of other workers forced into idleness as a result of the walkout of the craftsmen, increased their protests against failure of the Massachusetts unemployment compensation division to pay benefits and the refusal of the War Manpower Commission to grant work releases so they may seek jobs elsewhere.

William B. Larner, secretary of the Weavers Progressive Ass'n, an AFL group, said his members were getting a "raw deal" in Massachusetts. They are out of jobs through no fault of their own, he said, yet the WMC refuses to issue certificates of availability to let them obtain other employment.

Slain Sailor Left Epic Letter to Girl

Constituting a remarkable and feeling document, drawn up perhaps under a premonition of being killed in action, 20-year-old John C. Cruthers, Navy sailor murder victim, in a North End street, left a letter for a Bronx, N. Y., girl, police disclosed today.

In his letter, the young carpenter's mate cheerfully accepted his role of one with love unrequited, told of the happiness her friendship had brought and asked that she back her country and bring her children up to support truth, justice and freedom.

The last letter to the 15-year-old girl, marked on the envelope, "Only to be delivered in the event of my death," read:

"Dear Phyllis: I don't think there is any need to address this because by the time you get it I won't be needing the address any more, anyway.

"This is to be delivered to you only in the event of my death and there are a few things I would like to say to you now that I could never say before. By this I mean well, things I never had the right or privilege to say to you when I was alive, but I don't think it will do any harm now.

HAPPIEST WITH HER

"The first thing I would like to say is this. The few times I have been with you, and you can believe this, it doesn't make any difference to me now, have been beyond the shadow of a doubt—even if I didn't say it—teh happiest of my whole life.

"From the first time I laid eyes on you I knew that I loved you but didn't have the right, you see, as you told me in your first letter you liked someone else, plus the fact that I knew you would not hurt anybody if you could possibly help it, assured me that I was too late again. That's the way it's been all my life.

"Always remember this, Phyllis. There is no possible way that you could ever know how I felt about you even if I had a chance to tell you. You still would not know how great this feeling was.

"Well, now you know, and the first and most important part of my letter is over. Oh, I could go on and on, but I think you understand now, and will stop there.

COUNTRY'S THE BIG THING

"As to the last part of my letter, well, let's talk about something that is bigger, and always will be bigger than you, I or any individual could ever hope to be—the country.

"It's yours now, a land where people can be happy if they just give themselves half a chance, a land that's free. That's a wonderful word, Phyllis, a truly wonderful word.

"She's weak now, gone through a lot. Don't let her down. Throug you will come tnother generation. Back them this time; teach them the meaning of the word freedom. Teach them about one of the greatest pieces of literature the world will ever see. By this I mean the Bill of Rights."

HOW MAKE IT SAFE

"Do this and the country will be safe, for through them will come another generation just as they come through you, and then all this teaching of freedom, truth and justice, will make them, each generation, a little stronger, more binding, and the country will never die.

"You see, Phyllis, other guys like myself are dying out here today so that many angels like yourself can come up to see us some day. And, most important of all, you must come with a happy and free soul, because that's the way it should be, and that's the way it will be. You just wait and see. You just wait and see.

"Well, Phyllis, I think I'll say good-by now, my last good-by. In conclusion, let me say this: I wish you and yours the best of good luck throughout your entire life, and through God it will be. I know because I've talked to him a lot about you at night.

"So it's good-by, best of luck, and God bless you always.

"Forever yours,

"SONNY."

Blizzard Hits All N. E., 8-Inch Snow Due Here

Driven by a high wind, the first blizzard of the winter hit New England today bringing to an end the long spell of open weather and threatening to tax the section's snow removal facilities with a fall of six to eight inches.

This emergency storm warning was issued by the weather bureau shortly before noon:

"Snow, accompanied by strong winds, will accumulate to a level depth of six to eight inches, except 10 inches in the Berkshires, today and tonight. Strong winds will cause heavy drifts."

State and city public works departments mobilized crews of workmen and prepared to maintain a steady fight to keep highway traffic moving.

James E. Lawrence state public works department maintenance engineer, said he ordered 150 plows into operation shortly after the storm started. He said 500 more units were ready for use as the storm progressed.

Accompanied by subfreezing temperatures, the swirling snow slowed traffic in Greater Boston but officials were confident transportation facilities would be maintained on a near-normal basis.

The storm hit Boston after blanketing all states east of the Rockies with an average fall of 6 to 10 inches. Sharp temperature drops followed in the storm's wake throughout the Midwest. Coldest spot was in North Dakota, 42 below zero. Drifts in Indiana were six feet deep.

New York city transportation schedules were disrupted, commuters delayed, and all airplane flights cancelled as the blizzard struck the metropolis.

Officials in New York feared that the manpower shortage would cause unprecedented tieups in traffic. William F. Carey, sanitary commissioner, ordered 7000 men to work, but said "there's no emergency equipment and we can't get any."

Trains from Western states arrived in New York as much as three hours late.

Wife's Petition Enjoins Mate

Upon his estranged wife's complaint, a Woburn man was restrained by an injunction issued in Middlesex Superior Court today from disposing of or damaging furnishings and household effects of their Foster st. home.

Upon a bill of equity, filed by Catherine Mary O'Brien of Newton, the restraining order was issued by Judge Daniel Collins against George William O'Brien, living at the Foster st. residence.

Mrs. O'Brien said her husband ordered her out of their home last December, locked the doors and refused to allow her to return. She also said her husband refused to let her recover any personal belongings.

The couple have nine children. A separate support suit, filed by Mrs. O'Brien, charging cruel and abusive treatment, is pending.

Charges Cop Beat Her, Wins Divorce

Being married to a tall, husky Boston police officer has its drawbacks, Mrs. Gladys Redford, Sheldon st., Roslindale, charged in Suffolk Probate Court today.

The strong fist employed to protect the law, she said, was used by her husband to beat her. She was awarded a divorce on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment from Patrolman Frederick Redford, and custody of their two children.

POLL PLANNED ON VETS BILL OF RIGHTS

By DAVID CAMELON
Boston American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—The case for simple justice for the fighting men and women of this war will be launched today on a final drive toward a showdown in the Congress.

This last-stretch drive for the American Legion's omnibus "bill of rights for GI Joe and GI Jane" opens before a friendly senatorial group—the veterans subcommittee of the Senate Finance Committee, whose chairman is Sen. Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri, the Legion's first national commander.

Sen. Clark is expected to close the hearings on the bill tomorrow. Sometime next week, if things go as anticipated, the "bill of rights" will be reported to the Senate for passage.

From the Senate, the bill will go to the House, where tougher sledding is anticipated. Within three weeks, every American fighting man, whether he is still in the armed forces, or discharged, probably will know what steps his Congress has taken to aid him in the difficult process of readjustment to civilian life.

The Hearst newspapers will keep a running poll of sentiment in the House, where the heaviest fighting is expected, as the bill moves toward a decision. By this poll, people of the nation will be able to tell how their Congressmen stand on this important issue.

The American Legion, through its national commander, Warren H. Atherton, has asked every American citizen to make it amply clear to the Congress that this bill must pass.

Film Quest Ended, Girl Back in School

Her intended Hollywood career given up, for the time being at least, 12-year-old Enid Levy, daughter of I. Roy Levy, wealthy sportswear manufacturer, returned today to her classes at the Choate School, where she is an honor sixth-grade student.

Officers took her to the Milk st. police station for questioning after she tried to buy a ticket to Hollywood for $8 at South Station.

FRANKLIN ST. HOLDUP NETS GUNMEN $7000

Three youthful gunmen today held up Ward's Stationers, Franklin st., in the downtown business section, and robbed Edward Dunn, the treasurer, of the weekly $7000 payroll.

The holdup occurred in the small areaway next to the store while Dunn was waiting for the elevator. About 60 store employes went about their daily tasks unaware of the crime just a few feet away.

Dunn had just been to the Ward factory on Melcher st., South Boston, driven, as usual, by Malcolm Fernald, foreman of stock and receiving. The two stopped at a Milk st. bank to pick up the payroll.

DEMANDS MONEY

Arriving at the store, Fernald remained in the car, while Dunn entered the areaway carrying a small black sample case containing two canvas bags—one holding $5000 and the other $2000.

As he waited for the elevator a man about 25 or 30, 5 feet 8 inches tall, flashed a nickel-plated revolver at Dunn and said

"Hand us the money."

Another man grabbed the bag, while a third hovered in the doorway with a newspaper over his face.

The second man was described as between 20 and 25, 5 feet 6 inches tall and wearing dark clothing.

PRODDED WITH GUN

The man who held the revolver wore a black overcoat and brown hat and was very dark in complexion.

Dunn said as soon as the men had the money they prodded him with the revolver and told him to march up the stairway which curves around the elevator.

Fernald, while waiting outside, saw a black sedan pull away shortly after Dunn entered the building but had no knowledge of what had taken place.

Capt. Frank Sliney and Sergt. William Mutz of the Milk st. police station with Inspector George Galvin started an investigation.

John F. Celebrates at 81

Cherishing a greeting from President Roosevelt saluting him as, "Dear Honey," Boston's former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald celebrated his 81st birthday today as friends and associates scheduled an anniversary luncheon at the Parker House in his honor.

Special luncheon guest was the ex-Mayor's grandson, Navy Lieut. John Fitzgerald Kennedy, son of the former ambassador to Britain, Joseph P. Kennedy, Pacific war hero.

Hale and hearty, and active both mentally and physically, "John F." devoted his birthday remarks to a discussion of his pet subject, "the neglected Port of Boston." The development of the port and the city, he said was "frozen by dead hand money control."

"The long and short of it is that there is no longer any venture money hereabouts for the development of Boston, its airport and its seaport," he declared. "The money is all tied up in family fortunes and those who are content to draw down the dividends haven't the vision or the pioneering ability of those who piled up the 'dough' from which they are content to receive dividends.

Special Nazi Units Fly Captured Forts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The creation of special, English-speaking Nazi units, to man captured Flying Fortresses and use them for sneaking into or alongside of an American bomber formation is reported.

The official AAF publication, Air Forces, says American pilots have reported several instances of unidentified B-17's appearing in their formation or flying along out of gun range but parallel with the flight of the formation.

"They engage in mock air battles with Nazi fighters," the publication says, "and attempt to work out new tactics which will give their fighters more of a chance against our big bombers.

"Only crews who speak perfect English are chosen to man the bombers. To make things as real as possible, the members have nothing to do with other German airmen, and have contact with the regular Luftwaffe only through liaison officers.

"They plan their tactics with great secrecy and try to act like Americans. After each 'battle,' the liaison officer makes a long report to the fighter group, pointing out mistakes and making suggestions."

Air Forces also said the Germans have been using men they call "Kommandos," assigned the job of recovering Allied aircraft still fit for use. This unit is made up of mechanics who have worked abroad.

New Inquest In Hotel Killing

Special to Boston Evening American

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 — Through attorneys, Mrs. Patricia Goodbody, daughter of the Drake Hotel murder victim, said she will remain in Chicago until March 3, when a new inquest is scheduled.

Max Bloomstein, Jr., representing the daughter, made the statement after Coroner A. L. Brodie, acting to thwart Mrs. Goodbody's contemplated departure to California, issued a subpoena calling for her appearance at the inquest. Bloomstein said:

"There was no need for subpoena action because Mrs. Goodbody had not planned to leave Chicago immediately. Besides, she is a very sick girl. She is suffering severe exhaustion and emotional strain."

Mrs. Goodbody's mother, Adele Born Williams, was found dying, a bullet in her forehead, on the night of Jan. 19 in Room 836 of the Drake Hotel.

Cured by Knife, Boy Freak Eyes Career

WINNIPEG, Feb. 11—Strong, healthy and normal for the first time in his 12 years of life, a Winnepeg boy who was born with two bodies and saved from deformation by a surgeon at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., announced today that he had decided to devote his life to medicine and music.

"I want to be a composer," said Ernest De Fort, "and write music like the "Blue Danube" waltz. But my mother wants me to be a doctor. So I may be a doctor in the daytime and a composer in my spare time. I am glad now that I am like other boys."

Ernie, who was born with extra arms, extra legs, two extra kidneys and a spare liver, but only one head and heart, traveled all over Canada in a sideshow to raise funds for the operation which restored him to normal.

PLAYS VIOLIN WELL

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank De Fort, disclosed that the operation was performed last October by Dr. Henry Mayerding of the Mayo Clinic.

"Ernest is a happy, healthy normal boy now and wants to enjoy life like other boys," his mother said. "He plays the violin well. He has his heart set on being a composer, and a doctor, too, I hope. He was a little afraid of the operation but he made up his mind to go through with it."

Mrs. De Fort, 34, said Ernest was a premature baby who weighed only three pounds at birth. Because the family needed money badly, they decided to let Ernest join a sideshow.

MAKES UP OWN MIND

"We wanted the operation," she said, "but decided Ernest should make up his own mind as he was the one who had to take all the risks. Now everything has worked out wonderfully and we are all so happy about it."

The operation was described as "difficult" by Dr. Mayerding.

Reveal How Guns Saved Leningrad

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

LENINGRAD, Feb. 10 (delayed), (AP)—How Leningrad was saved by the greatest artillery barrage was revealed today.

The guns were directed against a hill seven miles southwest of Leningrad where the Germans sat for two years and four months directing the siege, but unable to take the city.

That hill, the Russians said, was soaked with 500,000 to 600,000 shells along a front half a mile wide and two miles deep starting at 9:20 a. m. and permitting a decisive break-through in the battle of Leningrad.

This probably was history's most powerful artillery barrage.

Bay State Bond Drive Spurts, But Need Is Great to Hit Top in 4 Days

Massachusetts passed the halfway mark today in the Fourth War Loan, but with only four days remaining in the drive, F. W. Denio, state chairman, sounded an appeal for 11th hour purchases.

"I appeal in these closing hours of the campaign to the people of Massachusetts to put the drive over," he said. "No sacrifice that any one of us makes is comparable to the sacrifices the younger members of our families are making in all the battle areas."

To make the drive a success by the Feb. 15 deadline, men and women who have for months been making regular bond purchases must pitch in and buy extra War Bonds, Denio emphasized.

Two bond rallies will be held in Roxbury tonight. At the Shawmut Theater, Lieut. Clark Nichols, veteran of 12 bombing missions over Europe, Billy Morris, Lynn Merchant Marine veteran of the Murmansk run, and other speakers will spur sales.

Lieut. Nichols and Lester Hawes volunteer Minute Man from the Treasury Department, will take part in a program at Temple Mishkan Tefila.

Malaria Peril Found Here

Malaria and other tropical diseases which were generally unknown in this region prior to the war may break out with the coming of warm spring weather, according to a warning sent to all doctors and public health authorities by the Massachusetts public safety committee.

Doctors were advised to familiarize themselves with the symptoms of malaria and methods of treatment. It was pointed out that many malaria victims have been brought back from tropical war areas for treatment here. The Anopheles type of mosquito, whose bite spreads the disease, has been found in several parts of Massachusetts.

Report Bolivian Regime Ousted

SANTIAGO, Chile Feb. 11—(AP)—The newspaper La Hora said today it had received a private but unconfirmed report that the recently established nationalist government of Gualberto Villarroel in Bolivia had been ousted in a counter-revolution and the leaders jailed.

The newspaper's information was similar to the broadcast by the Santiago station, Radio Agricultura, last night.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Feb. 11 (AP)—Release from jail of Sen. Laureano Gomez, leader of the Conservative party, appeared today to have dampened opposition hopes of developing a political fight into a revolution against the Liberal government of Acting President Dario Echandia.

The government, in complete control of the situation, announced last night the two-day agitation, which produced many sharp clashes between demonstrators of the two major political parties, was "now closed completely."

MUSIC IN INDUSTRY

NO. 2

Music is an Industrial Necessity

The use of music in industry is no longer a matter of experiment. It is a matter of almost standard practice in plants where monotony and fatigue are attendant to the work performed. Music has become an industrial necessity . . . bought as matter-of-factly as any raw material, and with the same careful attention to its adaptability to the job it has to perform.

ASCAP, as might be expected, has made an organized study of the use of music in industry. The factual material we have gathered and correlated on the subject is probably the most complete to be found anywhere, both with regard to the work in Great Britain and in America.

We shall be glad to make available to you, without obligation, any of this material.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF COMPOSERS, AUTHORS AND PUBLISHERS
30 Rockefeller Plaza
New York 20, N. Y.

Until after the war, licenses for the use of industrial music are available at the nominal fee of $1. Rates after the war will be consistent with the general rate schedules for commensurate uses.

WAC Trial Accuser Out

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—James J. McLaughlin, attorney for Lieut. Virginia Wight in a hearing before a special Army board on unfitness charges, said the accuser of the pretty 24-year-old Philadelphia WAC had been relieved of her command.

The lawyer said he was informed by "'War Department official sources" that Capt. Evelyn Rothrock, the commanding officer of the WAC detachment at Ft. Myer, Va., of which Miss Wight was a member, had been succeeded by a member of the reviewing board.

Miss Wight said through her attorney, however, that she has received no official War Department word of the outcome of the secret hearings on Capt. Rothrock's charges.

Allied Victory in New Guinea

After Foe—American jeeps roll through jungle trail of New Guinea . . . in the campaign now ended with the Yanks and Aussies joined near Saidor.

In Drive

American forces pour ashore in the Finschhafen area of New Guinea . . . at the start of the Huon peninsula drive which has just ended in victory for the Allies, thus closing the jungle campaign which wiped out some 14,000 Japs. Yanks and Aussies, under Gen. MacArthur, are moving on Madang. See right . . .

Jungle War—American soldiers had to ford 60 streams in the Huon peninsula battle. They also fought bitterly over towering mountains

Jap Loss

American airpower, which blasted convoys seeking to supply the Japs in New Guinea, played a major role in the Allied jungle victory in New Guinea. See below . . .

In Allied Path—This Jap airfield, somewhere on Huon peninsula, fell to attacking Allied troops early in the five months' drive. Wrecked Jap planes litter field.

Cost of Victory—Death came to these American invasion troops in a maneuver to outflank the Japs in New Guinea. But the Jap cost was many times the Allies'.

Pacific Vets—Transferred from an Oakland, Cal., hospital to Seattle, these wounded veterans of the Pacific war get their first glance of the northwest city from the steps of a hospital train. The sailor on the lower step was wounded at Bougainville, the men in the rear saw action at Tarawa.

A Fighting Call

EVERY MAN AND WOMAN in the United States should vigorously support the American Legion's campaign for a "GI Bill of Rights" for simple justice for America's fighting men.

This timely measure, thoughtfully designed to ease the transition of the service man from military to civil life and to enable him to take his rightful place in the postwar world, has some friends in Congress.

But it also has many enemies.

A "Bill of Rights" for men thrust into the flame, blood, deprivation and death of war appeals powerfully to those Senators and Representatives who recently fought for an honest and honorable mustering-out pay act giving each discharged soldier and sailor the equivalent of a full year's salary.

But it does not appeal so strongly to those other Senators and Representatives who were responsible for brushing off America's defenders with an insulting sop ranging from twenty-seven cents to eighty-two cents a day.

For this reason National Commander Warren H. Atherton of the Legion has properly placed the veterans' case in the hands of the American people and has said:

"This is a FIGHTING CALL to every American citizen.

"America's fighting sons—your boy, your neighbor's boy—need YOUR help. They need it today. They need it badly.

"There is opposition to the 'GI Bill of Rights' in Congress.

"Legislative jockeying and maneuvering endanger it.

"Committee jealousy within Congress assails it.

"Most deadly of all is a false economy wave AIMED ONLY AT THE VETERANS. While billions of dollars are being spent for the people of the four corners of the earth, efforts are being made to pare down the money to help your boy adjust himself to civil life.

"YOU can help in this emergency.

"YOU can make passage of this bill certain.

"Let the members of Congress know that YOU are behind this bill.

"Ask your neighbors to telephone, telegraph or write their Senators and Representatives.

"We need the help of the mothers and fathers of America's fighting men—the help of their wives and sweethearts, brothers and sisters, and their friends.

"The American Legion Omnibus Bill—The Fighting Man's Bill of Rights—must pass.

"Time is short. WE MUST ACT NOW."

Commander Atherton's urgent plea is a CHALLENGE to every American who believes in fair and honorable treatment for the more than ten million men and women whose lives are pawn in this greatest of world holocausts.

Let every American accept the challenge as a proud privilege and a patriotic duty.

The Special Session

GOVERNOR SALTONSTALL'S plan to call a special session of the Legislature to meet problems presented by the soldiers' vote is all right as far as it goes.

But it doesn't go far enough.

The activities of the legislators should not be confined to that particular issue.

They should be focused upon the whole broad problem of State veteran rehabilitation and readjustment, preference, re-employment, etc.

The next regular session of the Legislature is a year away.

By then the already large numbers of discharged and disabled veterans of this conflict will have been multiplied many, many times in Massachusetts.

Are we going to say to the men overseas: We'll meet next month and fix it up so you can vote but you'll have to wait a year before we can get around to providing for you when you come back home?

We hope not.

The need is great for immediate federal legislation such as is represented in the American Legion's "Bill of Rights for GI Joe and GI Jane." The Congress that let our boys down with the niggardly sop of a mustering-out pay bill appears now to be aroused to this need.

Let the Governor and Legislature take cognizance of the need for Massachusetts to get going.

Nothing gives a bigger boost to the morale of our fighting men than concrete evidence the home folks haven't forgotten them.

The Urgent Need of Paper

GREATER BOSTON cities and towns have provided 7115 tons of waste paper for conversion into weapons of war. This is a GOOD BEGINNING, but by no stretch of the imagination can it be regarded as the most the patriotic people of this locality can do.

If every family spent two hours collecting all the waste paper in the attic and cellar of the home, donations would be many times 7115 tons.

On the Side . . . . .

When you and I behind the veil are past,
Oh, but the long, long while the world shall last
Which of our coming and departure heeds
As the sea's shelf should heed a pebble cast.
—OMAR KHAYAAM.

OMAR'S gloomy philosophy as above is a little off the beam. It applies only to mediocre personalities. Some men and women have made the world heed their "coming and departure" for centuries. That is, some pebbles make a bigger splash than others. Omar probably wrote the above lines when he was suffering from a hangover . . . A grandmother, 68 years of age, is reliably reported as cutting a new upper tooth. She has been wearing dentures for years. I have heard of so many aged people starting to grow a third set of teeth lately that I am beginning to think perhaps Nature intended us all to have three sets of teeth. I shall have to check and attempt to learn the extent of scientific research on this matter. Of course, dentures are so cleverly made nowadays that some people would rather have them than regular teeth for the reason that false teeth never ache.

SIDELIGHTS: A news photo of Olivia De Havilland dancing at Hollywood night club clearly reveals she snuggles close when dancing. Apparently she is an affectionate little girl. She should make a nice wife for some deserving young man . . . The Chinese are still predicting the future of the Japs by saying: "The camel set out to get him horns and was shorn of his ears" . . . Speaking of plays and films a Hollywoodian states: "Without a love situation you can do nothing." That play, Journey's End, didn't have any love situation and it did all right. Made a couple of million dollars for its author, R. C. Sherriff.

ASIDES: On a recent list of famous bachelors of all time I neglected to include the name of John Greenleaf Whittier. The great poet, who lived to be 85, gave the claim that bachelors do not live long quite a kick in the pants . . . Now we have two more members for our Namesakes of the Famous Club, open to people who have the same names as celebrities but are no relation. New members are Andy Devine of New York City, and John Bull, wine steward of the Canadian Club, Waldorf-Astoria, Manhattan.

PASSING BY: Lucy Cochrane, Ziegfeld Follies cutie. She has been publicized as a socialite who faced disapproval of society by going on the stage. This line of publicity has been worn pretty thin. It is around 45 years old, having first been used by the press agent of Mrs. Leslie Carter . . . Henry Knight, Kentucky sportsman. Putting Valdina in the name of race horses results in considerable confusion. I think "Curley" Brown originated this idea when he put Shasta in the names of all the animals bred on his Shasta stock farm in Northern California. The most confusing of all horses named this way were the "Sixty" horses which had names like One Sixty, Nine Sixty, Four Sixty, etc. . . . Tallulah Bankhead, Sixth lady of the theater. She is very good in the film "Lifeboat." Her best performance, however, still remains that in the stage play "The Little Foxes." Tallulah, who is named after a river in Georgia, is an ash blonde. Of the 69 different kinds of blondes, ash blondes are No. 18 on the list. No. 1 is the honey blonde. No. 69, as previously stated, is the dishwater blonde.

PLEASE NOTE: Heard of a man who had a ranch on which he raised some cattle. He recently had some beef sent to his home. An investigation by the OPA followed. He was told he would have to give up ration points for the amount of beef he had consumed from his own steer, as he had not personally fed said steer. If he had, no ration points would be required. Now this man goes out to his ranch and feeds his steers in person.

"Why don't grenade pins get stuck in anybody else's teeth?"

BRIEFLY: Do you recall a song titled "Two Little Girls in Blue?" Or "The Bird on Nellie's Hat?" Or "Everybody Works but Father?" If so, you are a real old-timer. Anyway, the man who originally published those songs, Edward B. Marks, is still in the music business and will soon celebrate his 50th year as a Tin Pan Alleyist . . . All these years I have been thinking Elmer Stricklett originated the spitball. Now I hear that Fred Hildebrand was the originator and taught it to Elmer. If you are a sports expert answer me this: Who was the last of the spit-ball pitchers? I want to get into this contest myself. I think it was Clarence Mitchell. I suppose you are going to tell me it was Burleigh Grimes.

FANCY PENSIONS: Pensions for film stars and production executives. That's what Hollywood is discussing, according to "Variety." As usual, the film colony is handling the matter in colossal style. For example, a star or executive who has made at least $200,000 a year for 10 years will upon retirement be given a pension of $50,000 a year. Some pension, what? Oh, well I'm not jealous. I won't have any $50,000 a year pensions to take care of me in my old age, but then I will have my racing system perfected by that time.

SAID EDDIE: Some people say Jockey Eddie Arcaro is not really in much of a slump, but just hasn't been getting good horses to ride. Eddie, formerly a good natured fellow, is very touchy and quick tempered now. "Why didn't you come fast on the outside in the stretch as I told you to?" a trainer said to him after he finished out of the money in a recent race. "I couldn't come without the horse, could I?" snapped Eddie.

MONGRELS: Dispatch says a "mongrel dog" saved a boy's life at Jacksonville, Fla. Seems every day some dog referred to as "a mongrel" saves a life somewhere. We should have another name than "mongrel" for a dog of mixed breed or doubtful origin. The name "mongrel" has a touch of snobbery to it.

BABUSHKAS: Now I know what a babushka is. A New England subscriber has sent me a picture of one. Where did the babushka get that name? I remember when I was a kid the women in New York's Little Italy wore the very same thing. I am certain they didn't call them babushkas. No matter what they call them they look like a shawl tied around the head to me.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

NEW YORK, Feb. 11—Judy Garland, Fred Astaire and Jimmy Durante are the first top names for "The Ziegfeld Follies," M-G-M's most costly movie on the 1944 schedule.

I can't say Judy and Fred will be teamed because there is not one whit of a fiction story running through the film and no real hero or heroine. That's something new under the sun. The whole thing will be a series of skits and specialty numbers.

The big number Judy and Fred do together is an old one Fred used to do with his sister, Adele. Way back when they were co-starring in "Funny Face" the dancing Astaires did a show stopper—"The Babbitt and the Bromide"—and it is this number that is being revived for Judy and Fred.

★ ★ ★

UNUSUAL deal just closed between M-G-M and James Hilton. Hilton is writing a novel, the subject matter known only to himself, and Metro has bought it, sight unseen. His "Lost Horizon" and "Random Harvest" were best-selling novels that developed into hit movies and he has written many successful screen plays. Of course, the studio is buying the "secret" story for a movie and I understand the money that has changed hands is certainly a vote of confidence in Hilton's ability to turn out hits.

★ ★ ★

YOU CAN'T CALL Darryl Zanuck lucky in having the first authentic picture of the Jap atrocities ready for release in "The Purple Heart." It took a lot of courage to go ahead with the movie in the face of the Government's policy of secrecy. D. Z. went ahead and completed the yarn (which deals with the fate of those gallant aviators who bombed Tokyo) with the knowledge that he might not be able to release the costly film until the Government reversed its stand. That's a big gamble for any producer to take. Those who have seen the picture report that it will do more to defeat complacency and awaken the American public than any film of the war.

★ ★ ★

BEFORE I LEFT New York to run down to Baltimore for a few days I heard that Lester Cowan had signed Victor Wolfson to write the screen play for "Tomorrow the World," one of my favorite Broadway shows. Although Wolfson is well known on Broadway as a playwright (he's also secretary of the Dramatist Guild), he has never before written a screen play. As far back as 1934 he produced and directed "Bitter Stream," the first anti-Fascist play in America. Which may be one good reason Cowan has handed him the story of the nasty little Nazi boy in America.

★ ★ ★

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Virginia Gilmore slipped into Hollywood for eight days to visit her former heart, Fritz Lang. Whether this romance is "on" again, I wouldn't be knowing. It certainly blows hot and cold. But Virginia and Fritz have remained good friends and she depends on his advice. She brought along a play for Lang to read which Gilbert Miller dug up for her. Virginia did all right for herself with the New York critics in "Those Endearing Young Charms" and she would like a real Broadway hit before returning to the movies.

★ ★ ★

WAIT UNTIL the Army hears that Louise Allbritton, who is camp touring North Africa with George Raft and June Clyde, thrives so well on G. I. food that she's put on six pounds! "The first thing I'll have to do when I return to Hollywood," V-letters Louise, "is to reduce. It's been a wonderful tour and experience for all of us. The boys all know George and he's danced his shoes off for them. Ran into John Carroll at one of the camps and he joined our show and sang a couple of numbers that went over in a big way."

★ ★ ★

THERE IS a funny battle of the nags coming up—unless "Trigger," Roy Rogers' wonder horse, is too much of a sissy to accept the challenge of "Starless Night" to a battle of horse wits! "Starless Night" is the horse that rumbas, counts and does a dance with Eleanor Powell in Andy Stone's "Sensations of 1944," and in throwing down the gauntlet for his nag, Stone says "Trigger" will have to prove his claim to being the smartest horse in the world. "Why our horse even talks," says Stone with his tongue in his cheek. "The other day he said he doubted if Trigger was even bright. If he were, he wouldn't go jumping over all of those cliffs!"

★ ★ ★

SNAPSHOTS OF NEW YORK AND HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Morton Downey at the Sammy Kaye opening at the Palladium with Mary Landa—who looks enough like his ex, Barbara Bennett, to be her double; Orry Kelly, one of the best studio gown designers, and Warners have come to a parting of the ways after 11 years; sorry to hear that Lou Costello's little girl is in the hospital for an operation. They've had so much illness and sadness.

★ ★ ★

IT'S GETTING SERIOUS with Ward Bond and Mary Crumley; those reports from San Francisco that Dorothy Donegan, Negro piano player at the Troc, had married William Couch are untrue. He is married to someone else. Don't be surprised to see Ruth Chatterton back in Hollywood. Arthur Lyons tells me he has a fine movie offer for her; Richard Barthelmess' daughter, Mary, is in New York with her parents.

★ ★ ★

DID I TELL you that Mrs Barthelmess is doing interior decorating and is mighty successful? Kathryn Brown arrives in New York tomorrow to await the arrival of Joe E., who will have completed 150,000 miles of travel when he once again steps on U. S. soil. Mayor La Guardia is tossing a reception in Joe's honor—and he richly deserves it; Al Bloomingdale is very lonesome since Mona Maris took off for Hollywood; Louis Stevens, who just finished a 1000-page novel, has checked in at RKO for a screen-writing assignment; Mae West heading to New York to confer about "Catherine Was Great." The N. Y. reviews on her last picture, "The Heat's On," were cold enough to send shivers down the back; Robert Lowery with Marguerite Chapman at the Beverly Tropics; Ginger Rogers' escort to the premiere of "Lady in the Dark" was General Vogel; it was Ida Lupino's birthday yesterday, but she won't do any celebrating until Capt. Louis Hayward is out of the hospital.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Thursday — Friday the birthday of Thomas A. Edison will be celebrated. At 6:15 in the evening there will be a broadcast in his honor in which four great educators will participate. They are Dr. Charles Seymour, president of Yale University; The Rev. Joseph M. Egan, S. J., president of Loyola University; Dr. Rufus B. von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California; and Governor Spessard L. Holland of Florida.

By his many inventions, Thomas Edison has probably changed our world more than any man of his time. We are apt to forget who is responsible for the various things in our environment which we come to accept as a matter of course, but which we would never enjoy if someone had not started the ball rolling by an invention which led to commercial production.

★ ★ ★

FOR INSTANCE, THIS YEAR marks the 50th anniversary of the advent of moving pictures. Mr. Edison contributed greatly to the development of this industry, and we only now begin to see what possibilities lie ahead not only for entertainment, but for mass education and the spreading of knowledge.

I HAVE BEEN GETTING inquiries as to how many packages may be sent to prisoners of war.

Next of kin of prisoners are permitted to send an 11-pound package, 18 inches in length and 42 inches combined length and girth every 60 days, and they receive labels for such packages from the provost marshal's office. With the label goes a list of items permitted, also a special label for sending cigarettes through a manufacturer.

Carneys Celebrate

By BETTY ALDEN

TO CELEBRATE their 15th wedding anniversary on the 21st Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carney of Brookline are giving a Chinese chop suey party at their home.

Several of their socialite friends had to consult the laundryman to translate the novel invitations which bear a message in Chinese characters telling guests, in addition to when and where, to come in costume—mandarin coats, silk pajamas, etc.

Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, Jr.

Speaking of anniversaries it's many happy returns today to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft (Bettina Gray) of Cohasset who are celebrating their fifth with dinner and the theater in town.

AUTHORITIES estimate that one sentry on guard with a trained dog relieves six soldiers for duty elsewhere so the big dog shows that donate proceeds to Dogs for Defense, Inc., play a patriotic role in wartime. The New York show takes place today and tomorrow with many Bostonian dog fanciers in attendance, and the next event along these lines is the Eastern Dog Club annual Washington's Birthday show, Feb. 21 and 22, at the South Armory.

Mr. and Mrs. James Parker Jr (Betty Foster), Mr. Justin Griess and his daughter, Joan, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rehm, the Edwin Dressers and Emery Trotts have gone to the Gotham show and will be back for the Boston event a week hence. Festivities connected with the Eastern include the dinner of the N. E. Great Dane Club, Kenneth Tiffin president, at the Hotel Lenox. Guests will include Mr. and Mrs. C. Cyril Keckler of Ohio, who will visit the Tiffins. Mr. Keckler will be a judge of Great Danes.

MR. AND MRS CHARLES B BARNES, Jr. of Dedham are giving a dinner for their débutante niece, Claire B. Everett, before the next Waltz Evening, Feb. 18, in the Copley Plaza ballroom. Guests at the candle-lighted table will be Betsy Swann, Polly Jaques, June Dement, Catherine Curtis, John Potter, Craig Phelps and Gerald Stonehill of Harvard V12, Francis Parkman, Jr., and Francis Woidich of Harvard NROTC.

Another important pre-waltzing dinner will be given by Katharine Hamlin whose guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Edward Hamlin, Jr., Mrs. Marshall K. Bartlett, Mrs. Richard Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamlin and several others. Proceeds of the Waltz Evenings help to raise funds for packages for prisoners of war.

LOCAL AND NATIONAL champion skaters will take part in the annual winter sports show at Turners' Lake, Elmcrest, Walpole, all week from Saturday. Roger Turner, former national champion, and Carl Swenson, are sponsoring the affair for the Walpole Rotary Club to benefit the war service fund.

This Time-tested Iron Tonic May Be Just What You Need!

Have you been feeling under-par recently? Do you get played out easily—lack the zing and vitality to really enjoy life? And how about your complexion? Does that look pale and "lifeless," too?

Often when people get that way, it's because their blood is low in iron! And when that's the case, a good iron tonic like Pepto-Mangan can help a lot. Pepto-Mangan replenishes whatever iron the blood may be lacking—helps to give it that rich redness so essential for radiant strength, healthy color and sparkling vitality.

Recommended by many doctors and praised by thousands of men, women and children for its beneficial effects, in cases of iron deficiency.

'36. ("I'm the company's 'first cook'" is his illuminating explanation.)

Smallman's task, like that of Sergt. Clarence B. Margeson of 9 Shepherd Court Hyde Park (a career chef for Monument Bakery), is to nourish such ravenous gourmands as Corp. John G. Keating of 11 Toby rd., Belmont (Holy Cross '33), now a medical technician who has had a decade of marriage and two small daughters, Carol Ann (3) and Nancy (5). (He's cousin to the college football referee, Ray Keating.) And Corp. Bernard "Herb" Dushame of 281 Neponset ave., Dorchester, who pines for the Parkway Inn, and who used to perambulate a truck for Chet Martel of Quincy Oil.

And First Sergt. (a mild-looking lad for such a growly job) William R. Goss, of 41 Woodland st., Lynn, who is an ex-4-H clubber, who exhibited prize poultry at Mechanics Hall and Topsfield.

And Staff Sergt. Ernest S. Watson of 107 Myrtle st., Brockton, the habitual smiler, whose mother, Daisy V., hit the right spot with a bottle of gift-olives recently, and who says the Army taught him how "to keep a steady job."

These boys are following the footprints of their seasoned AEF mates, which is to say they're slated for some muddy months of marching at a steady cadence of 120 SPM (steps per minute). Most of the transportation being "grounded" in the interest of one thing or another, this means a deal of marathon-hiking in which they'll learn to knock off a nonchalant 15 miles every three hours —with extra "fatigue" for stragglers. It's a rugged school for newcomers, for this is the post-grad course in hard knocks, and a pretty brutal dose until one considers that this type of training is intended to bring them back alive.

So, though the G. I. understands the futility of complaint and generally takes his dose with a straight puss, there'll be some more shanks among the late ETO arrivals such as Corp. Stanley H. Szymanski of 32 Albion st., Medford, who worked in the Hood Rubber press room, and left behind wife Elena and 14-months-old Carol Ann. And Pvt. John E. Scanlon of 130 Pearl st., Clinton, who used to like to tinker with the giblets of his four radios, and waves yoo-hoo to wife Marion (Rice).

And Corp. Paul R. Flaherty of 20 Baker rd., Everett, who as one of Dinny Gildea's old huskies enjoyed the conversational society of Abe Katz's pharmacy. And Pvt. Mike Tamasco of 252 Bremen st., East Boston, an assistant stockman for Jordan Marsh, and rabid collector of swing-band records, and gets his V-news from Alice O'Brien of the terpsichore studio at Mass. and Huntington.

And Harold H. Leonard of 18 Bridge st., Beverly, a cannoneer friend of Thelma Walburn, who as a one-time caddy at United Shoe, could go around in less strokes (75) than lots of the guys he caddied for. And Ricco H. Falzone of 184 Havre st., East Boston, who worked for his brother-in-law, Anthony Reale's Fruit Co. And Sergt. Bill F. Pike, Jr., of 53 Mt. Auburn st., Watertown.

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

YES, THE CARE YOU GIVE YOUR SKIN today is an investment in the future . . . Remember TOMORROW belongs to those who prepare for it . . . and, that sincere, regular and serious skin care which helps you look your prettiest today . . . will pay off in large beauty dividends later. The most heartening and inspiring words I can think of right now . . . are . . . postwar planning . . . for ourselves . . . for those dear and near to us . . . and for that high and glorious feeling of feminine charm.

You'll agree . . . if you've thought much about it . . . that no other words have ever held quite so much meaning for so many American women. They may start you dreaming of plans for an efficiency kitchen . . . or tracing the itinerary for a South American trip . . . they may move your imagination in any number of hopeful ways . . . but for every forward-thinking gal . . . they'll call forth that eternal personal but feminine question . . . "I wonder how much older I will look when that bright tomorrow dawns!"

Your ability to keep your good looks between today and any tomorrow . . . depends largely on the daily care you give your skin. Here is a simple time-saving skin care program which should aid you in your quest for good looks . . . today and tomorrow . . . and every day.

Your skin must be kept scrupulously clean. Cleanse it every night and every morning with a lucious cream . . . that will keep softening your skin as it cleanses . . . leaving it feeling delightfully refreshed.

GUARD AGAINST DRY LINES

Then go over your face and neck with a pad of cotton . . . saturated with a mild non-drying skin lotion . . . that will help stimulate your skin locally . . . and make it look radiantly clean.

If you are retiring . . . smooth a rich cream over your face and throat . . . being certain to apply a generous amount over the dry area around your mouth. Give particular attention to the delicate thin skin around your eyes . . . patting some eye cream under your eyes and over the lids every night. This emollient, satin-smooth cream will help keep the skin around your eyes well lubricated . . . and thus guard against the dry lines that are apt to multiply if the skin there is not kept supple.

If you are just starting the day . . . there is a flattering, smooth powder-base cream . . . which keeps your makeup fresh for hours . . . and which is a wonderful "camouflage" for tiny surface blemishes and freckles.

For the names of these valuable beauty aids, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BEAUTY IS AN INVESTMENT . . . and the woman who today gives sincere and regular attention to her skin . . . will be amply rewarded with beauty dividends tomorrow. For the sake of that bright tomorrow, a woman owes it to herself and her loved ones . . . to preserve the charm of her complexion. Miriam Hopkins poses.

Using Typed Signatures

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: I write all my letters by typewriter. Is it correct for me when I have finished the letter to type in parentheses my last name with my husband's initials and then in the space between that and the complimentary to sign my name Mrs. with my first and last names? For example, the way I will sign this letter:

Very truly yours,
MRS. MARGARET S. SMITH.
(Mrs. A. B. Smith.)

This is almost right. Just omit the "Mrs." before your hand-written signature. Write Margaret S. Smith and the form will be correct. (Of course it is better to write your husband's name in full, particularly his first name.)

Write Without Delay

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—Recently a pal of mine sent me her older brother's address and asked me to write to him. He's in the Navy, and I've always admired him, but I've been his "little sister's chum." Our families are friends of long standing. Mother said it would be all right to correspond with him, but I'd like your opinion also. Would it be correct if I wrote him a friendly letter before I heard from him?

B. L. W.

Don't waste another day, but write to your friend's big brother. If people only knew the heartening effect letters have on soldiers, they'd never hesitate about writing to family friends of long standing, as in this case.

The time when letters to soldiers are inadvisable and absolutely discouraged by the War and Navy departments is through such organizations as "Pen-Pals" etc. In the beginning of the war, the enemy made use of such letter-writing clubs, to discover the sailing and destination of troopships, and the submarines went after them accordingly with terrible and murderous effects.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My sister has been dead nine years, and for the past five years I have been deeply in love with her husband and he loves me. He does everything to make me happy and I know he never goes with anyone else.

He is overseas now, and when he gets back, do you think it would be all right if we got married? He has no children. R. H. K.

Why not, if you're both in love?

Tops Among New Spring Coats

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SPRING MUST BE in your mind . . . if not in the air . . . and here is a black and white ukele print as fresh as a song . . . an intriguingly different motif, both musical and whimsical, to "lift" your spirits . . . The square neckline is slit . . . and pleats mark the front. The wide waistband . . . a new fashion note . . . is trimmed with two crystal buttons. Constance Moore models the frock. R. M.

ONE of the most graceful and beautiful spring coats that this fashion market has produced in a long time is the Anthony Blotta coat sketched.

You are hearing a lot about the loose topper and such coats, but here is a coat with personality and beauty that isn't ordinary. Made of pastel blue fine wool this coat has the ease of a topcoat, with its loose sleeves and graceful skirt, and it is belted by a belt of darker blue leather with a design of gold four-leaf clovers running about it. It is collarless with stitched pieces pretending to be lapels, and the jabot of the dress under it makes a froth of flattery over the neckline.

Two breast pockets set in at a slant give emphasis to the bosom of the coat.

Pass Along Pleasant Thoughts

Do you encourage and inspire others by telling them the pleasant things you think about them or have heard about them? Passing along to others these kind thoughts and words may be just the tonic needed by some heavy-burdened hearts.—MRS. BEECKMAN.

Valentine Dainties

By MARTHA LEE

AFTER THE CHRISTMAS holidays the most important party season is the month of February. And one of the most important days is St. Valentine's Day.

Hearts are the order of the day for this festive occasion, both in party favors and refreshments.

A dainty molded heart-shaped salad is always attractive for a Valentine luncheon. It may be a tomato aspic, for example, served with greens or mixed vegetables. After aspic begins to set, diced celery or a cup of flaked fish and ½ cup of minced green pepper may be added to make the salad more substantial.

TOMATO ASPIC

16 tbsp. granulated gelatin
¼ cup cold water
2½ cups tomato juice
1 tbsp. chopped onion
3 peppercorns 3 whole cloves
1 bay leaf 1 sprig parsley
¼ cup chopped celery or celery leaves 2 tsp. lemon juice
½ tsp. salt 1 tsp. sugar

Soften gelatin in cold water. Mix tomato juice with seasonings, cover, and simmer 15 minutes. Strain, add gelatin and sugar, and stir until dissolved. Pour into heart-shaped mold. Chill until firm. Turn out and serve with salad greens or mixed vegetable salad. Garnish wiht mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

Valentine Fancies are especially pleasing during February. They are not only luscious to eat but make mighty sweet Valentine tokens, too.

VALENTINE FANCIES

¾ cup shortening
1 cup sugar 2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla extract
3½ cups sifted enriched flour
1 tsp. salt

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add eggs and vanilla extract, beating thoroughly. Sift together flour and salt. Add, mixing only enough to combine ingredients. Chill. Roll out ⅛ inch thick. Cut with heart-shaped cookie cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 10 minutes. Makes about 30 small and 30 medium Valentine Fancies.

VALENTINE FANCIES

Tuck a creamy cookie into each generous serving of applesauce for a fancy dessert. The crispy elegance of these cookies compliments smooth spicy applesauce. A drop or two of red food coloring may be added to the applesauce as a special pink Valentine touch.

This cake has a particularly Valentine-y look with its fluffy frosting and cherry garnish.

VALENTINE CAKE

½ cup shortening
2½ cups granulated sugar
2 1-3 cups sifted enriched cake flour 3 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt ½ cup milk
¼ cup maraschino cherry liquid
16 bottled maraschino cherries, cut fine ½ cup chopped walnuts
4 egg whites, beaten stiff
½ tsp. vanilla extract

Work shortening with a spoon until fluffy and creamy; add sugar gradually, while continuing to work with a spoon until light. Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately in thirds with cherry liquid, milk, and vanilla to to sugar mixture, beating smooth with a spoon after each addition. Fold in cherries, walnuts, then stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in 2 greased and floured 8-inch layer cake pans in moderately hot oven of 375 deg. F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Fill and frost with fluffy frosting; garnish with cherries.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 11—Over at 20th Century-Fox, Woodrow Wilson is asking for a joint session of Congress for a declaration of war against Germany. Alexander Knox is playing the role of Wilson.

Felix Bressart

The set is a replica of the House of Representatives, and although the Senate has appeared on the screen before, this is the movie debut of the House of Representatives.

This sequence presents a problem for it calls for 700 extras. More than 500 of them are supposed to be Representatives and Senators. The others are occupants of the visitors' gallery. Even in the movies, it is not easy to get the correct men in Congress.

Extras aren't a cinch to get these days, and because other studios might be planning mob scenes the same day, the studio had to start lining up 500 solid, substantial-looking types a week in advance. You just can't get an extra by telling him that he's going to be a Congressman. It's no great lure.

★ ★ ★

DIRECTOR KING is ready. Alexander Knox takes his position and delivers Woodrow Wilson's speech to the extras. No script writer has tried to alter Wilson's writings.

Everything is going along fine until King stops the scene. "What's the matter?" asks Knox.

"It's not you," says Director King. "It's a Congressman or Senator. I don't know which. But he has his hat on."

"That's O. K.," shouts the assistant director. "Anything can happen in Congress."

"But not in this picture," says King. Every Congressman is going to be a gentleman. After all, this is the movies."

★ ★ ★

B. S. PULLY, a character's character, is doing a scene for "Greenwich Village," with Felix Bressart, who is a noted scene stealer.

Pully and Bressart are doing this scene with the camera as close to them as it can possibly be. Bressart is supposed to be eating the leg of a chicken, and what with Bressart's "takems" and the elaborate waving he is doing with the chicken, Pully wonders if he is in the scene at all.

This, however, was only the rehearsal. When the camera started to roll, Bressart really outdid himself. He turned on every trick he knew and waved that chicken leg as if it were the battle flag of Victory.

"O. K.," Director Lang shouted, "that's it. But we'll do it again."

Then Director Lang diplomatically explained to Bressart that he had gotten so enthusiastic in playing the scene that he had moved over and completely covered Pully's face.

"That's O. K.," said Pully, "I don't care about him, but who's handling that chicken, the William Morris Agency?"

Lincoln—1944

By George E. Sokolsky

WHEN ABRAHAM LINCOLN was President of the United States, the leading figures of Europe were Victoria in England, Napoleon III in France, William I of Prussia in Germany, Alexander II in Russia, and Franz Joseph of Austria-Hungary. Britain's prime minister was Palmerston, with Disraeli and Gladstone in the offing soon to be among the greatest of Britain's galaxy of statesmen.

"Honest Abe" of Kentucky and Illinois had never been to Europe and had had no experience in international relations. He spoke no foreign language. Yet, he carried his country through the perils of a Civil War with a diplomacy adequate to safeguard it from foreign advantage.

NOR WAS HE AFRAID of elections—the symbol of our democracy. But such a symbol can only be of social value as long as no impediment to free choice by the people exists. In his message to Congress of 1864, he said:

"The most reliable indication of public purpose in this country is derived through our popular elections. Judging by the recent canvass and its result, the purpose of the people within the loyal states to maintain the integrity of the union was never more firm nor more nearly unanimous than now. The extraordinary calmness and good order with which the millions of voters met and mingled at the polls give strong assurance of this. Not only all those who supported the union ticket, so called, but a great majority of the opposing party also may be fairly claimed to entertain and to be actuated by the same purpose.

"It is an unanswerable argument to this effect that no candidate for any office whatever, high or low, has ventured to seek votes on the avowal that he was for giving up the union. There have been much impugning of motives and much heated controversy as to the proper means and best mode of advancing the union cause, but on the distinct issue of union or no union the politicians have shown their instinctive knowledge that there is no diversity among the people. In affording the people the fair opportunity of showing one to another and to the world this firmness and unanimity of purpose, the election has been of vast value to the national cause."

IT NEVER OCCURRED to Abraham Lincoln or to his opponents that he could not direct the affairs of his nation, that he was unfit because he was not personally acquainted with Franz Joseph or Napoleon III or even Victoria.

Lincoln stayed at home and the rulers of foreign lands stayed wherever they properly belonged and our diplomacy was done by the slow processes of communication then in vogue, but none of it was to our hurt. Yet, when Lincoln had completed his four years in office, he ran again and was elected for the second time. And nobody then feared the consequences of an election although many opposed Lincoln even in the Northern States.

IN THE history of our country, two men stand supreme above all others, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Both were selfless men. Washington came from the landed gentry of Virginia, but Lincoln out of the very lowliest folk of Kentucky. Washington might have been President for life or even a king, but he rejected a third term, and wisely, since a 12 year tenure for a mature man is close to a life lease on the job.

Lincoln expected little of his fellow-men and in the end gave his life for them. He erected no monuments to himself except those which remain everlastingly in the hearts of a people he served by preserving their union, maintaining their constitutional form of government— a republican government in which there was malice towards none, charity for all and firmness in the right.

JIVE FANS MADE HAPPY

By MARY X. SULLIVAN

Louis Prima, jiving band maestro, and Wee Bonnie Baker with the baby voice, head the new vaudeville program at the RKO-Boston.

Prima's band opened the show with an arrangement of "Limehouse Blues" which pleased the hep-cats mightily, later swung (of all things) "The White Cliffs of Dover," and played an interesting original composition, "Robin Hood." A Boston lad, Jimmy Vincent, did a spectacular drum solo in the finale.

Bob White sang pleasantly with the band, and Lily Ann Carroll, singing "Besame Mucho," will never make the Metropolitan Opera, but is so pretty she might well make Hollywood.

Wee Bonnie Baker, to our surprise, did not sing "Marsie Doats," which would seem to be a natural for her ingenuous, piping voice. Bonnie, who always reminds us of a golden-haired moppet whose proud parents insist on her singing for the guests, sang "No Love, No Nuttin'," and a medley of her most popular songs. Even if you don't like that kind of singing, you have to like little Bonnie.

Frank Gaby, comedian and ventriloquist is a very clever young man, who could, given the breaks, give Bergen competition.

On the screen is a timely and entertaining comedy, "Government Girl," with Olivia de Havilland and Sonny Tufts.

Diane Kaye Heads New Casino Revue

Diane Kaye, who has been recently diverting Chicago night spot patrons from their income tax preoccupations, steps into the top spot in the Casino's new stage revue, opening tonight.

Other distracting lassies in the new show will be the 30 show girls, whose dance routines are described as merely spectacular. Comedians Steve Mills, Al Pharr and Tommy Carr insure laughs. Additional entertainment is to be provided by vaudeville's Hall Sisters, Mel Diamond and the Skilton Family.

Met's 'Destination Tokyo' Packs Plenty of Thrills

By PEGGY DOYLE

Warners, with its incomparable flair for turning out topflight wartime action films, scores again.

In "Destination Tokyo," currently proving to Metropolitan patrons just how dangerously submariners live, the studio has come through with another breath-stopper, a box-office smash.

Cary Grant

In a class with its notable "Air Force" and "Action in the North Atlantic," this thrilling record of how a single sub paved the way for the famed Doolittle attack on Japan more than a year ago is a blueprint for victory. The marquee spells out Cary Grant and John Garfield as the stars but you'll discover, within a few minutes of unreeling, that the picture's actual star is the heroism that hallowed Valley Forge and Bataan.

The story is packed with countless thrills and sublime bravery, as are front page cabled stories that cause the eyes of American fathers and mothers to gleam with pride the while their hearts ache. Not until the war's end will we know precisely where fact terminates and fiction begins but take it on the word of a submariner on furlough who, too, viewed the picture in the screening room, "Destination Tokyo" "is so real it's frightening."

Briefly, the sub, under sealed orders not be opened for 24 hours, sails out of San Francisco harbor to keep a date with a Navy plane near Kiska. A meterologist is taken aboard there. He is to be put ashore on an isolated Japanese coast for the purpose of getting information vital to the proposed attack by the flying armada taking off from the aircraft carrier Hornet.

Menaced by Jap destroyers and mines continuously, the trigger suspense within the sub's narrow confines is intensified when a pharmacist's mate is required to perform his first operation, an emergency appendectomy.

Leonard, Demers Top Goodwin Card Tonight

By JACK CONWAY

FRANCIS LEONARD, Taunton featherweight, who is a former All-America and A. A. U. ring champion, and Pat Demers, of Brockton, are expected to furnish a bout jammed with thrills when they collide over the 10-round route at a Goodwin A. C. show at Mechanics Building tonight. In a recent tussle here, these fistic rivals battled to a draw.

Francis Leonard

The winner will eventually be given a crack at Phil Terranova, world's featherweight champion who is under contract to clash with Larry Bolvin of Providence at the Garden on March 10.

Leonard and Demers are evenly matched. Both are fast, clever boxers and sharp hitters.

Tommy Murray of New York will have Sammy Garcia of Quincy as an opponent in another 10. Murray came up off the floor four times to win from Garcia in a local ring. This should be a torrid mill.

Bill Tordiglione, North End boxer, will collide with Dave (Golden Boy) Andrews of Lowell in a 10-session affair, while the fourth 10-rounder will bring together Wilfred Shanks, Montreal puncher, and Johnny Jones of Revere.

B. A. A. Games Sizzling

IT IS SELDOM that there has been as much interest in the B. A. A. games, which will be held at the Garden tomorrow night, as is the case this year. While the clash between Gil Dodds and Bill Hulse in the Hunter mile should be the highlight of the meet, there are numerous other events that are attracting attention.

With John T. Fulton of the Olympic Club of San Francisco moving from the 600-yard run to the 1000 yards event, the former event should develop into a tussle between Jimmy Herbert of New York and Herbert McKenley of Boston College.

Fulton is expected to return to Stanford University. This youngster proves that with courage and intelligence one is able to overcome physical disabilities. Fulton was placed in 4-F by his draft board as a result of a serious arm injury received in his youth. Fulton is a favorite to win.

Glenn Cunningham, one of the greatest milers of modern times, was obliged to overcome the effects of serious burns on his legs to gain athletic fame.

The 45-yard hurdles have not received as much attention as some of the other events, but should be a stirring affair. Edward Dugger of the Army and Thomas H. Todd, Jr., of Siena College are the standouts in this event.

Hall in 1000 Yards

JOSEPH HALL of Columbia will be a starter in the 1000 yards event. He comes here with a reputation as being a top man at this distance. He is expected to receive his chief trouble from Alfred Daily of the New York A. C. and Fulton. The latter will be the favorite.

Dez Wadsworth seems to have upset some of the young men who consider themselves leaders in track athletics because he had the courage and the frankness to pick Hulse to win over Dodds in the Hunter mile. Dez may have his faults, but one of them is not deceit. In the years I have known the energetic chairman of the B. A. A. games, I have never known him to say something because it was the nice remark to make. Instead he has an old-fashioned habit, and unfortunately one that few persons possess today, of telling the truth, even when it hurts.

In this particular case, Wadsworth shocked some people when he picked Hulse to win from Dodds. It would probably have been more diplomatic if Des had named Dodds, his one man track team, to win. Des, however, doesn't believe Dodds can beat Hulse tomorrow night, and he isn't a hypocrite and so did not string along with Gil.

If Dez were asked who he would like to see win, he would undoubtedly name Dodds. It is refreshing to find a man like Dez who is big enough mentally to call things as he sees them and not to make statements merely for silly ballyhoo purposes.

Boston fans, of course, will be rooting for Dodds to upset Wadsworth's predictions. Gil has been a credit to track sports and has always given his best efforts.

Hunter Arrives Tonight

ENSIGN OLIVER H. HUNTER of Columbia, former Notre Dame star, will arrive in Boston tonight. Hunter is eager to get revenge for the setback he received from Jim Rafferty of the New York A. C. at the Millrose games last Saturday. Hunter had previously beaten Rafferty easily.

Tom Quinn of the Navy, formerly at Notre Dame, and Joe McCluskey, one of the most popular veterans in sports, will also compete in the two-mile event tomorrow night.

R. I. State Here

COLORFUL Rhode Island State, always one of the standout basketball attractions in the East, makes its lone Boston appearance tomorrow night, playing Northeastern at the Huntington ave. Y. M. C. A. gym . . . It's a 6:30 game which will enable fans to see both the basketball game and the B. A. A. meet if they wish.

Frank Keaney, Rhode Island's amazing coach, always comes up with one court standout, and this year he has a youngster named Ernie Calverly who is leading the entire country in scoring with an average of 26 points per game

BC Ace BAA 600 Choice

Shift of John Fulton from the 600 to the 1000 at tomorrow's BAA meet is a marvelous break for Herb McKenley, if not for the spectators. The BC captain will be making his debut in trophy competition in the Hollis "six," and he's primed for the kill. A fast starter of the Fulton stripe might have grabbed the first corner and given him trouble the rest of the route. It is doubtful if veteran Jim Herbert, Charlie Grohsberger, Lieut. Frank Cotter or even Big Nine champ Bob Ufer can match the West Indian's speed to that important bank.

Here are some of the figures we've seen McKinley compile on BC's well-spiked track during the past fortnight:

600—1:14.2, finishing a head in front of the flying Gil Dodds.

440—51 flat for a new BC track record.

300—32.4 for a new BC track record.

One lap (176 yards)—15.1 for a new BC track record.

MILLROSE FORGOT

The loose-limbed flier came to the Heights a year ago last fall as a sprinter. He could fly, too, as he proved in the handicap meet at the "Y." But after winning the dash he pulled a tendon in the 300 and was never the same the rest of the winter. In June he won the national junior 400 meters championship in 47.7. In July he won the invitation 440 at the Stadium, a supporting race to the Hagg-Dodds classic. Gronsberger was among his victims.

This is his first shot at a 600 special. Millrose didn't want him, doubting that even Jack Ryder could make a 600 champion out of a sprinter. Millrose had forgotten that Ryder made a mile champion out of sprinter Lloyd Hahn.

Fortunate for BAA meet patrons that Tom Kanaly listened to Ryder and entered McKenley in the "six." Only inexperience can beat him tomorrow. And it's entirely possible that he'll match Hugh Short's masterpiece of 1943—winning the "six" in record equaling time, then running a 49 quarter (on BC's relay). Such a feat was good enough to win the Hallahan (most valuable) award for Short. Duplication by McKenley would not surprise those who have braved the wintry blasts at BC's board track and followed him in practice sessions. He's a whirlwind.

GIL PASSES CANDY

Gil Dodds was in buoyant mood after his pre-BAA meet windup at the Heights. The US metric mile champion, who never smoked, passed around candy instead of cigars to celebrate the birth of eight-pound John Lloyd Dodds.

Gil never was running better. Admits it himself. He complained of a tightening in his thighs but thought that would disappear after his evening's three-mile walk. He planned to loaf today between visits to the hospital to see wife and heir. He'll be ready for the race of his career tomorrow. One thing: He'll be better prepared mentally than he was at Millrose. Then he was expecting momentarily to become a father, and his mind was not at ease. Now that Mrs. Dodds and son are thriving he actually seems carefree.

WATCH SPARROW

Even though he's been bothered with a "Garden jinx" in past years, it wouldn't do to bet against him tomorrow. It must be remembered that he has beaten Bill Hulse in four of five starts, that he never was in serious danger in the Wanamaker mile. It must also be remembered that Hulse has shown his best running outdoors. Though his 4:11 effort at Millrose was remarkable for an indoor mile debut, Hulse's long stride didn't seem exactly suited to the sharp turns and he may have some difficulty on the Garden's surface.

Times as a whole should be better than in the '43 BAA meet. Ice was lifted from the Garden Wednesday, and the dampness will have left the plant by race time. Consequently the track should be a shade faster than last winter when the Bruins played on the eve of the meet . . . Look for Tufts' Ted Sparrow to give Tufts alumnus Eddie Dugger a bang-up go if it is in the 45-yard hurdles. Dugger admittedly is lacking sprint work while Sparrow is flying . . . Dash favorite will be Claude Young of Illinois U., Millrose surprise winner over Barney Ewell and Herb Thompson. BC's Ralph King should place . . . Fulton asked to compete in the 1000. Says he's better suited for the distance than for the "six." Hard to figure that one since Fulton is coast 440-yard champ, world record holder at 660 yards and 600 meters and won Millrose 600 . . . Jim Rafferty is expected to get under 9:10 in the two miles. Peepul's choice, however, will be Lieut. Joe McCluskey. Joe won the Billings special as far back as '35.

By MIKE GILLOOLY

English High School's bid for track honors for the indoor season will be climaxed tomorrow afternoon when Bill Ohrenberger's boys attempt to dethrone defending champion Newton from the State championship at the Garden.

Red Wings Stanley Cup Choice

By BILL GRIMES

Although Les Canadiens are far in the lead in the N. H. L. race with 54 points to defending champion Detroit's second place 41, don't go off the deep end on the assumption that the Flying Frenchmen will lift the Stanley Cup.

During my two decades of "covering" N. H. L. campaigns, I've discovered that Les Canadiens are the "pet hates" of every club in the league. It's my opinion that the motive behind the "Beat Canadiens" movement has always been a racial issue, prompted by the admitted fact that the French-Canadians have more natural hockey ability than the Canadian blue-bloods.

Now, it's a well known fact that there's no French blood in Mike McMahon, Glen Harmon, Ray Getliffe, Elmer Lach, Buddy O'Connor, Murph Chamberlain or Gerry Heffernan. But, they are all wearing the tri-colors this season, and, therefore, they are Frenchmen throughout the N.H.L.

HOT IN FORUM

Although they have been tied by the Bruins, Red Wings and the Maple Leafs, Les Canadiens haven't lost a game in the Forum this season. Of the 54 points they've annexed in the current campaign, 33 were entered on the credit side after engagements at the corner of St. Catherine and Atwater sts. in Montreal. And, they haven't done too badly on the road, winning nine and tieing three in 16 starts.

Les Canadiens delight in turning the heat on opponents at home. When they are playing in the Forum, Les Canadiens' tails are high and they really pour it on. Ninety-nine and 44 one hundredths per cent of fans, who attend games at the Forum, are behind them. And, if they have a brain in their heads, the other 56 one hundredths per cent remain neutral.

During the current season, Les Canadiens have made a practise of unloading on every opponent they've met in the Forum. That strategy has not made a favorable impression with visiting teams.

It just so happens that of the 16 games Les Canadiens have to play to complete their 1943-44 schedule, only seven are listed to be held in Montreal. In the nine away from home contests, the Flying Frenchmen will be the recipients of everything that their opponents can throw at them, fair or foul.

TO GET THE WORKS

Late this afternoon, Coach Dick Irvin will meet his French club in the Windsor St. Station up in Montreal. They'll climb aboard a C. P. R. train for Toronto, where they are listed to take on the Maple Leafs tomorrow night. The Leafs have lost three out of their last four home games. That isn't good. And, moreover, after the Leafs work on them, the Frenchmen will move out to Chicago for a Sunday night set-to with the Hawks. And, t-h-e-n, before they play Rangers at home one week from tomorrow night, Les Canadiens are scheduled to meet the Red Wings in Detroit.

Although you cannot get away from the fact that Les Canadiens have been the class of the N. H. L. this season, the Detroit Red Wings, who will meet the Bruins Sunday night at the Boston Garden, will be the choice of the betting fraternity going into the Stanley Cup play downs.

Bruins Cinch 4th Spot In Wild Win Over Hawks

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—In a rousing third period punctuated by fisticuffs among opposing players and attacks on spectators by two Boston Bruins, the Bruins pushed across the deciding goal in the last minute to whip the Chicago Blackhawks, 5-4, and take sole possession of fourth place in the National Hockey League. A crowd of 10,032 witnessed the battle.

Bep Guidolin, assisted by Norm Calladine and Herb Cain, connected with the game-winning marker with just six seconds to go after the Hawks had come from behind a 4 to 1 deficit to tie the score with three goals early in the final chapter.

The game started slow with Boston grabbing a 2 to 0 lead in the first period, then developed into one of the most hotly contested matches seen here all season.

The third period fireworks began when Pat Egan received a penalty for high sticking. A brief battle ensued at that point between Boston and Hawk players. When Egan went to the penalty box he swung his club at a spectator, was joined by Guidolin, and the entire personnel of both teams rushed to the scene of general turmoil.

When play was resumed with the score tied at 4-4, Cain and Doug Bentley of the Hawks had a brief session of brawling, but neither was penalized.

The Hawks collected their first goal late in the second period, but Boston came right back with two more, making the count 4-1. Fido Purpur, Bentley and Johnnie Gottselig produced Chicgo's three third stanza markers in a resurgence which found the Bruins wilting. Then Guidolin's final tally.

It was Bruins' fourth win over the Hawks in eight games this season. The defeat shoved Chicago into fifth place.
